DATE INSPIRES TEAM IN FINE WIN

By "The Onlooker"

R. Date, who intends to retire from Soccer, played brilliantly when his team, Wallsend, defeated Cessnock, 4-1, in the State premiership semi-final yesterday.

He scored three fine goals, possession, and had Cessnock's defence uneasy whenever he moved into the attack, even if the ball were at the other side of the ground.

Date has said this will be his last season—he began senior football 16 years ago, when he was 16—but his form yesterday was so good that efforts to induce him to change his mind are certain.

He said yesterday that he was adamant. He has fought against increasing weight for the past few seasons, and says it is time to call a halt, but he showed yesterday that he is still Australia's best and most dangerous forward. The problem Cessnock could not solve, for he was even menacing when not in

Because of Wallsend's mediocre and often irritating form in the past few weeks, most of the big crowd yesterday expected a Cessnock victory, because Cessnock has been winning well.

Wallsend, however, surprised even its most optimistic supporters. It discarded the third-back method in favour of the now old-fashioned attacking centre half-back formation—and won because of it. With its pivot, H. Parkes, roaming at will, Wallsend attacked continually, upset the rhythm of Cessnock's movements, and crowded the defence.

Cessnock's Bid

Wallsend scored the only goal in the first half.

Soon after half-time, Cessnock scored a grand goal after a movement started and ended by G. Almond. He slung the ball across the goal from the left wing, and ran in to accept the return pass and drive it into the net. It seemed for a few moments that Wallsend might crack under the pressure which Cessnock was then exerting, but Date rallied his forces and launched another series of attacks—and it was Cessnock that wilted.

Cessnock's form was good. Wallsend defeated a team which played well enough to defeat most other sides.

Wallsend won the State Association major premiership final at Crystal Palace yesterday, defeating Auburn, one goal to nil.

Wallsend will meet Granville, the Southern premier, on a Sydney ground on Saturday in the grand final. That match, if decided, will end the season.

In what he said was his last competition match on the ground, Wallsend's captain, R. Date, scored the game's only goal.

The match was not outstanding, although it had its share of incidents. The heat and a gusty wind meant discomfort to players and spectators.

Auburn muffed several chances. However, Wallsend did not flag in attack, and its goalkeeper, M. Baldock, made several remarkable saves.

Players Tired

Wallsend was always trying to do something, but the conclusion was inescapable that, despite its late second half bid to save the match,

Auburn's players were feeling the strain of playing two finals in two days.

It defeated Corrimal, one goal to nil, in a hard match in the State Cup final on Saturday. Several times it was noticeable that players, who began with pace, lagged when an extra yard would have made considerable difference.

Auburn had the use of the wind when it was stronger in the first half.

Auburn could not finish its movements, which were more smoothly carried out than Wallsend's, but the Wallsend attacks had force and drive, so that play was, for the most part, in the Auburn half. Date scored a good goal at his second attempt. R. Lord, Auburn's keeper, was unable to do more than parry his powerful drive, which rolled back to Date. Date gave Lord no chance the second time.

Although W. Allen played well again, R. Steel was the Wallsend defender who, next to Baldock, most took the eye. But Steel must learn to keep his elbows down and that allowable vigour cannot be confused with brute force.

Parke's Lapse

H. Parkes was not as good as in earlier matches. R. Herd was always sound. D. Morrow was satisfactory as a "stand-in" for J. O'Brien at right half-back. G. Arthur, who continually worried the Auburn defence, and Date were the best Wallsend forwards.

D. Wendt was solid for Auburn; covered well and tackled with finality. He and Lord were best of the defence, but A. McAllister played with such style that he was not often noticed, which is as it should be for a capable centre half-back. Arthur's attentions gave him little chance or room in which to begin the movements for which he is noted. R. McKenzie and W. Balfour made a good right wing pair. While F. Elynn and M. Cowgill showed appreciation of each other's player on the left flank, they did not fit in with the rest of the line. K. Cocks

Wallsend Still Soccer Hope

By "The Onlooker"

Wallsend, beaten on Saturday by Auburn in a State major premiership semi-final replay, came back into the picture yesterday by defeating Granville in a minor premiership final replay.

This success gives Wallsend the right to challenge the winner of the Auburn-Granville major premiership match to a grand final, and it will exercise the right.

The grand final is not likely to be played before Saturday or Sunday week. The Granville-Auburn final will be played next Saturday, but the grand final could not be played on Sunday because Wallsend will meet West Wallsend in the State Cup final at Wallsend on that day.

The ground for the grand final has not been decided. It is certain to cause argument, since both districts will want to stage the match. The winner of the Granville-Auburn game is sure to claim that, as major premier, it should not have to travel to meet a challenging side.

The availability of grounds may resolve the position. The Wallsend ground is not wanted for summer sports, as are most other areas on which Soccer is played.

The Secretary of the State Association (Mr. W. Orr) says a decision is not likely for a few days because the eight directors probably will have to vote on the question.

Date's Day

The difference between Wallsend and Granville in yesterday's final replay, won by Wallsend 3-nil, was Wallsend's captain, R. Date. Had Date been in the Granville forward line, Granville probably would have had the game well won by half-time.

Its forward had many chances in the scoreless first half, and many shots, but all were very wide of the mark.

Yesterday's match showed that Wallsend's formation of a roving centre half-back is more efficient than the third back game played by Australian sides. Of the teams which adopt the "stopper" centre half-back, only Auburn has been able to stop Wallsend, and that not till Saturday, when Wallsend had an off day and lost 0-4.

Although Granville's defence played well yesterday, it was not able to find a way to stop Date, although the presence of A. Heaney and the sound play of R. Frame undoubtedly eased the pressure on him. And, with J. Peel playing well, Wallsend had more than its usual share of the ball in attack.

Good Defence

Much of the praise for Wallsend's victory goes to H. Parkes and J. Allen, the full-backs, who were particularly steady and deadly in tackling, and to G. Arthur and R. Herd, the wing half-backs, who killed most of the second half Granville attacks at birth.

In the first half Granville invariably attacked down the centre, and it was then that Parkes and Allen worked overtime. It was as well that the field defenders were in form because the goalkeeper, M. Baldock, was uncertain, often dropping the ball after he stopped it. It was his lucky day for no Granville attacker was spry enough to pounce on the opportunities.

Directors To Discuss Soccer Delay

By "The Onlooker."

Northern members of the State Soccer Association's directorate today will discuss Dudley's refusal to meet Wallsend Rovers in the grand final of the Northern League competition.

Dudley won the final, after having defeated the Wallsend team in the semi-final. The club's officials claim there is no provision in the State Association's constitution for a grand final. They say Dudley should meet New South Wales Police, winner of the Southern League final, to decide the State championship.

The New South Wales Police Club officials also intend to protest about having to play a grand final—in which the team is drawn against Balgownie, which won the minor premiership. They also claim that there is no provision for the match.

There is a grand final in the inter-city competition, which caters for teams a grade above the League teams. It will be played in Sydney on Saturday.

Dudley officials have protested against the team being asked to play the match at Wallsend, the home ground for the Wallsend Royals team. They say finals should be played on a neutral ground.

Hopes Dashed

Wallsend's hopes of winning the season's double got away to a bad start when Granville defeated it two goals to nil, in the premiership final at Sydney Sports Ground on Saturday.

Wallsend was without A. Heaney, who had an injured back. H. Findlay, who replaced him, did not show his true form. Wallsend's greatest handicap was its inability to solve the problem of Granville's third-back game. R. Date was given little room in which to move or to engineer the kind of attacks likely to bring success. Once Date was held safely Wallsend had no alternative plan likely to bring goals.

After its crushing defeat of Leichhardt-Annandale the previous week, Wallsend was given a good chance of success, but too many players disappointed for it to do well.

Gate receipts, £837, were a record for a Soccer club match.

Wallsend has to meet Granville again—in the State Cup final, on a Northern ground. This match may be played on Sunday. If it is, Granville will have a heavy weekend, since it will meet Leichhardt-Annandale in the premiership grand final the previous day.

China Has Near Test Soccer XI

By "The Onlooker"

The Chinese Soccer team to play the North at Cessnock to-day is almost equal in strength to that which defeated Australia in the first Test on Saturday.

Nomination of such a strong side is a well-merited compliment but not undue recognition of the North's position in Australian Soccer.

The coach and secretary of the Chinese team, Mr. L. J. Channing, said it was recognised that the team was now in the "home" of Soccer in Australia, and it was considered that to-day's match might present even more difficult problems than did Saturday's Test.

"This is a good team, and the North will have to field a strong side to beat it," he said.

None of the four Chinese teams to visit Australia has recorded a victory on a coal-fields ground. In the 11 matches, including Tests, played on Northern grounds, China has won only one. But this team may present the North with its toughest hurdle to date.

"Has Bearing"

To-day's match will have a distinct bearing on the selection of the Australian XI to meet China at Newcastle Sports Ground on Saturday, according to the Australian Association Secretary (Mr. F. R. Druey) yesterday.

The team for Saturday's match had been deliberately delayed, and the chances of some players depending on their showing to-day.

There was in answer to criticism about the names of the Australian XI, being withheld till only a few days before the match.

"The Australian XI-China match will be little removed from a Test fixture, and we are using it as a Test trial," he said. "The time has come when some of the older members of the Australian team will have to go, and the way is wide open for players good enough to replace them. We have to find capable replacements, and may do that in Saturday's match. So anyone who does well in this match could go on to a place in the Test team."

The team for the second Test in Brisbane on Saturday week will be announced after Saturday's match.

Mr. Druey refused to say which Northern players would be "under the microscope" at Cessnock, nor how many interstate players would be in Saturday's team.

"You can count on some interstate players being included and some Northern players, but no one will know just how many till after the match at Cessnock," he said.

He agreed that the framework of the Australian XI had been built, and that some Northern men would "make or break" their hopes to-day.

Despite Mr. Druey's refusal to pin-point any player, probably most attention will be paid to C. Almond, L. Hearne, D. Bone, G. Arthur, S. North and A. Johns.

Australian selectors could not have been happy about the form of the full-back pair in the first Test, although D. Wendt, who had to their mind

The Teams

TEAMS for to-day's match, which will begin at 3 o'clock at Cessnock Sports Ground, are—

NORTH. — D. Bone; C. Almond, L. Hearne; G. Arthur, H. Parkes, K. O'Neill; S. North, J. Lennard, V. Tancev, R. Date, A. Johns.

CHINA. — Yu Yiu Tack; Hau Yung Sang, Tan Kar Sow; Tang Sum, Chang Kam Hoi, Lo Wai Koen; Ho Ying Fun, Szeto Man, Chu Wing Keung, Ho Cheung Yau, Hau Ching To.

of the brunt, will not be lightly discarded. Hearne should be assured of a position on Saturday, and Almond, one of the fastest footballers in Australia, is the type of defender needed to combat the swift Chinese forwards.

Wingers' Chance

Arthur would not need to play in anything more than his usual form to replace F. Sands at right half-back and, since there was little to recommend either C. Stewart or H. Robertson, the wing forwards in the beaten Test side, North and Johns could regain their international team places this afternoon.

Although W. Mahoney did nothing to merit being dropped from the second Test side, either Bone or W. Henderson (Granville) could gain a place on Saturday without causing surprise. Bone has his chance to-day.

H. Parkes, one of the best "stopper" half-backs in the game, will be fortunate to gain a place in Saturday's team. His omission from the Test team after he had played with the State side cannot be regarded as hopeful. And since nothing R. Date does, either as centre-forward or as an inside man, seems to win him favour with selectors, only a string of goals to-day can force his claims. And he will have his work cut out to score heavily to-day.

J. Lennard is apparently well established as a Test player and K. O'Neill's recall is overdue. V. Tancev, of Greta Austral, is a good centre-forward but an unlikely selection.

Not only will to-day's match show just how strong is the North's chance of representation in future Test matches, but it should also reveal just how strong is the Chinese side.

The Northern players will adopt more direct methods, without paying undue attention to opponents, than did either the State or Australian sides. And the Northern men can be expected to play with spirit—something sadly lacking in the Test team.

The Chinese team plays the type of Soccer enthusiasts appreciate but the Northern team can match it without any necessity for adopting boisterous methods which have too frequently marked the work of district representative sides.

North Stronger

The Northern team appeals as a stronger unit than either the State or Test teams. It has players with sound positional sense and the fast open type of play favoured by the North's teams should be a foil for the quieter and more cultured style of the Chinese players.

The North is good enough to win—if allowed to play the football of which it is capable and is not fettered by too many instructions before leaving the dressing room.

The Chinese players have all shown form, with the exception of the youthful university student, Ho Cheung-yau, who reached Australia after the other players. He will be appearing in his first match and will play inside-left.

None From N.S.W. In Soccer Tour

By "The Onlooker."

New South Wales is without a representative in the Soccer team to tour New Caledonia this month. It did not nominate players or officials for selection. The team will be known as an Australian XI and will not play in Test matches.

The New South Wales Association refused to nominate players because it was considered that one tour in a season was sufficient, that the New Caledonian tour had been too hurriedly arranged and that it would be taking too great a risk to send an Australian team to meet a side of which little was known. It was argued that Australian prestige was high after successes in South Africa and no chances should be taken to cause its loss.

The Secretary of the Australian Soccer Association (Mr. F. R. Druery) said his association had nothing to say about the New South Wales Association refusing to nominate players and officials.

The tour, he said, was to help the New Caledonian Association rehabilitate the code, which had fallen away during war years.

The team is—W. Mitchell, D. Creedon, R. Coleman, H. Brophy, R. Gladwin, R. Hassett, A. Hall, C. Sanders, M. Wild, R. Hughes (Queensland), A. Heath, A. Drennan (Victoria), W. Grace (South Australia).

Brophy, a former English professional, will captain the team, managers for which will be Messrs. R. Telfer (South Australia) and W. Sanders (Queensland).

The team will travel by air, leaving Brisbane on September 10 and returning on September 28.

Skilled officials boost to club

IT is perhaps nothing more than happy coincidence that successful sporting teams go hand in hand with competent club administrators, yet it happens so often that it may be more than chance happening.

There are many clubs in various codes in the North which have had greatly successful runs in years in which they had executive officers whose records while in office have been out of the ordinary. But one particularly notices this fact when browsing among Northern soccer history.

Wallsend club had one of its best periods of success in competition when Dan Rees was president and Tom Lovett secretary. Weston shone in State play in the seasons in which Bill Beane and Jack Avis were the club's main administrators.

The Adamstown Rosebuds club teams in the 80 years between 1889 and 1969 had four periods of outstanding success on the field while highly capable presidents and secretaries conducted the club's affairs.

In the last three of the club's first eight years the club's president was Mr A. Edden and the secretary Mr W. Nicholls, two enthusiasts whom states the club's history, were officials of great energy and competence. In those years (1894-95-96) the Rosebuds won the badge competition (later the premiership) in each season, the Ellis Cup in the first and thirds years and the Cup runner-up in the middle season.

Agreed, the club had many fine players — J. Clayton, W. and J. Waugh, T. Simmons, P. Lynch, W. Wilson, H. Filby, A. George, A. Galloway, Martin, Embleton, J. Jennings among them — but it was a happy club because it was well and properly administrated.

Happy clubs invariably produce winning teams.

Mr R. P. Talbot was the club's president and Mr J. D. (Dinny) Hamilton, the Grand Old Man of Rosebuds' history, the secretary in the club's second period of notable success.

From 1905 to 1911, with the notable exception of 1907 when the club did not enter teams in the competitions, the Rosebuds' sides had marked success.

They won the premierships of 1905, 1906 and 1911 and the Ellis Cup in 1908, 1909 and 1910.

The Rosebuds' team won the greatly valued Gardiner Cup in 1909 by defeating Pymont, three-one, in a replay at Sydney Cricket Ground after a nil-all match at Lillyfield.

The teams of the period included some of the best players the North has ever had — such players as Brolgy Elgey, Jack Doyle, J. Wallwork, R. G. Campbell, W. Maxwell, J. George, Albert Jennings, W. Bartley, E. Price, D. Russell, W. Jennings, A. Lee among them.

Again, the hub of the club's success was the abilities of Messrs Talbot and Hamilton to keep matters and differing personalities and tempers on an even keel.

The club's teams won the premiership and Gardiner Cup and was runner-up in the Kerr Cup in 1925, was second in the 1926 premiership and won the Kerr Cup and was third in the 1927 premiership. The presidency was shared by Messrs S. Bush and Harry Winley while a former player of some note, Jim Cameron, was secretary.

Among the team members of the period were the club's first international and one of its greatest stalwarts, Peter Doyle. He led the side in which Alex Cameron, Gavin ('Massa') Russell, Arch Harris, Art Lambert, Lawson Bailey, Artie Johns, Dave McAlister, A. Dunne, all of them 'homegrown'.

There was not long to wait for another run of success. It began in 1930 when Mr George Smart was president, a post he held for four years until he stood down to be followed by Mr Winley for one term before the always remembered Bob Gardner, who retired because of ill-health after 15 productive and successful years took over.

He was an outstanding administrator with the ability to form happy teams and keep them happy.

He teamed with three highly capable secretaries in Harry Sellwood (three terms), Horrie Harriison (six) and Alf Waddingham (six).

In Mr Gardner's 15 seasons the Rosebuds won the State League premiership, the State Cup and the Robinson Cup in 1930 and was never afterwards lower than fifth place in the Statewide competition.

Teams in that period were, as the record shows, of outstanding quality.

The club's prominence was, without doubt, due to a large extent to the leadership of Bob Gardner and his fellow executive officers. The players and officers made an exceedingly fine team.

The former great player, Alex Cameron, followed Bob Gardner and was succeeded by another fine Rosebud forward, Billy Leddon. Then came Jack Ryan, a former club secretary and surely one of the best sporting officials the North has known. The club had its share of success when the three held office.

The fact that Rosebud's teams had such success in the years in which the club's progress was guided by outstanding officials cannot be without some significance. It certainly bolsters the thought that sound administration is the key which opens the door to playing success.

Jack O'Brien was a trailblazer

THE list of fathers who rose to the heights in Australian soccer and were followed there by their sons was further reduced last week by the passing of Jack O'Brien, 67, of Wallsend.

A noted and much talented player, the 1.10 JAN 1980 began his football career with the 'Bolshies' in 1925 and, apart from a season with New Lambton Club, was with Wallsend until he retired in 1939 after playing in 351 matches in senior grades.

He played for Australia, as did his son, also Jack, who played in 377 senior fixtures with Wallsend and Cardiff and who will coach Adamstown sides during the coming season.

"Dingy" O'Brien was a highly regarded and greatly respected man, not only in soccer circles but in the community in general.

Mr Tom Lovett, the long serving official of the Wallsend Club whose memories of great games and great players remain clear and vivid, recalls Jack O'Brien with much admiration and affection.

"There was never a better man in life than Jack," he said. "His football career was immaculate. He was never spoken to by a referee for he never did anything outside the rules. That was typical of his life."

"I saw him in most of the matches in which he played and he never failed us," said Mr Lovett. "He was a great club and team man. I often think of the match in which he gave one of the most brilliant displays of inside-forward play I've seen. It was the 1933 State premiership final against St George at Sydney Cricket Ground. The Wallsend forward line was 'Gina' Pringle, Jack O'Brien, Alf Quill, Hugh Whitelaw and Vic Barnett. The other four were all outstanding but 'Dingy' was superb. No one man wins a football match but he went close to it that day."

There are, according to Sid Grant, the doyen of Australian soccer historians, eight other instances of father-son participation in the game at top level in NSW. Six of the nine concern players who made their marks in the North.

Perhaps the most notable instance concerns the Thomsons of Cessnock. Jimmy Thomson, who came from Scotland to work in mines in the Cessnock area, is something of a legend in Northern soccer. Known as the 'Iron Man', he led NSW teams in representative fixtures and coached his four sons, Angus, Gordon, the end of his career, played for a time with Mayfield United. The father played in 127 matches for Cessnock, Gordon in 122 fixtures, Jimmy junior in 101, Keith in 101 and Angus took part in 108 senior grade fixtures.

Andy Henderson was another who left his mark on Northern soccer. He gave Kurri Kurri Club great service before going to Granville. He played in 221 matches and five times for Australia. His son, Andrew, played 307 times for Granville and Auburn and another son, Bill, who was a top-class goalkeeper, took part in 351 matches for the same two clubs.

Bill Henderson played 14 times for Australia and was a member of the Australian squad in the Olympic Games soccer tournament in Melbourne in 1956.

Another member of that squad was Jack Lennard who, with Cessnock and Mayfield United, played in 110 matches and 16 times for Australia — six more than did his father, Percy, who played all his 492 competition matches with Cessnock. Percy Lennard made some soccer history by scoring Australia's first goal in an international match. That was against New Zealand in Brisbane in 1923.

The great goal-scorer, Alf 'Artie' Quill, who scored 868 goals in 516 appearances with Annandale, Pyrmont, Wallsend, Lake Macquarie and Goodyear in a career lasting 21 seasons during which he played seven times for Australia. He was set a fine example by his father, Jack, who played 172 matches for Balmain and Pyrmont.

The Paddocks — Roy and his son Bill — totalled more than 600 senior matches between them. Roy Paddock played in 298 fixtures for Wallsend, Kurri Kurri, Aberdare and Dudley while Bill, who gained an Australian cap, played 351 times for Wallsend and Cardiff.

Wally McKenzie was among the North's many noted goalkeepers. He turned out 258 times for West Wallsend and Wallband teams. His son, Ray, who was better known as 'Blue', was a field player who had a senior grade career that took him into 118 matches with East Lakes and Newcastle Austral.

Bob Madden, who also played Sheffield Shield cricket for NSW, played in 401 matches for the Bankstown Soccer Club. His son, Dennis, was in 186 matches

SOUTH COAST SECTION

New Zealand Visit . . . Sunday, 5th September, 1954

The New Zealand soccer team will visit the South Coast area to play its last match of the tour on Sunday, 5th September.

The visitors will leave Sydney by motor coach at 8.30 a.m. arriving at Sublime Point about 10 a.m. where they will be officially received by the members of the Combined South Coast Soccer Committee.

After morning tea, they will view the beautiful panoramic scenery from Sublime Point and the Bulli Lookout. The views from these vantage points are amongst the most beautiful which the New Zealand tourists will remember of their visit to this country.

Leaving the Lookout, the visitors will then be conducted on a sight-seeing tour of the South Coast area, and like all previous visiting teams, will find this a most interesting experience.

At the conclusion of their tour around the district, the party will return to the Bulli Hotel for lunch, and from there will proceed to Slacky Flat to meet the combined South Coast eleven at 3 p.m.

They will be entertained after the game at a special dinner at the Woonona Bowling Club's rooms.

South Coast hospitality to overseas visitors is well-known throughout the soccer world, and the New Zealanders will take back with them, memories of one of the happiest days of their Australian visit.

The one discordant note connected with the New Zealand visit to the coast, is that of the attitude of the Wollongong Showground Trust and local Rugby League authorities. It is now history how the Showground Trust authorities completely bungled the whole of the arrangements for the game to be played at the Showground.

However, notwithstanding the Trust's bungling, the New Zealand v. South Coast match could still have been played there except for the fact that—the Rugby League authorities "Objected."

Of course you can hardly blame the League authorities, for the soccer code on the South Coast has now captured the public imagination and the League people are really fighting a losing battle for existence.

One thing which may not have occurred to those same League authorities is—that Australian sportsmen do not like dirty play, and the League action in "blocking" soccer's use of the Wollongong Showground on Sunday, 5th September, savours of the usual uppercutting in the scrums (on the blind side) and the ear-biting associated with the hash and bash game which is commonly referred to amongst the cleaner living types of sportsmen as the "Egg and Spoon" race.

The attitude of the Showground Trust and the League authorities, will in no way detract from the attractiveness of Sunday's game, and no apology is required to be offered to our New Zealand friends for this revelation, because don't forget, the Hash and Bash is played in New Zealand too, and they are no doubt familiar with selfish domination which apparently is part of the administrative teachings of this so-called sport which masquerades under the name of football.

September 5th 1954 at Slacky Flat.

Former Cessnock Player Joins English Club

By "CELTIC."

The former Australian and Cessnock Soccer player Cliff Almond has joined the staff of the famous Aston Villa Club, which is situated near Birmingham in the Midlands.

This news came to me in an exclusive air letter which was received today.

On arrival in England eight weeks ago, Almond visited friends in the north of England, where he saw the first three opening matches in the present season.

Almond's comments are interesting to local enthusiasts.

"After seeing several matches in the professional leagues, I think that the Australian standard is on a par with the English third division."

When Almond went to Aston Villa to meet Eric Houghton, the manager, he was given a good welcome.

"The club is short of talented defenders and Almond may be our man," concluded Houghton.

Mr. Larry Tamlyn, a former Newcastle Soccer secretary of 30 years ago, in a letter from London last Saturday week, said he had visited Preston in Lancashire to see former Australian player Joe Marston of Sydney play his first game as captain of Preston.

Mr. Tamlyn has seen many matches in England since he arrived there in March last.

"Tell the Australian officials to give away the third back game and play attacking Soccer," is his advice.

"I saw on TV the world's cup final between Hungary and Germany and it was a real treat. Germany won by 3 to 2."

Mr. Tamlyn visited Newcastle-on-Tyne, where he met Mr. Stan Seymour, who was out in Newcastle (N.S.W.) as a player with the 1925 English side.

In conclusion Mr. Tamlyn said: "The Australian officials, with a little vision, could get several English or Scottish club sides to visit Australia if terms are attractive and plenty of time given to complete negotiations."

Famous Coach

He was placed under Aston Villa's famous coach, Jim Hogan, whose main purpose now is to bring Almond up to first-class standard.

However, Almond, who is living with relatives in Nottingham, has been allowed to train with Notts County Club until he can secure board nearer Villa Park.

Next week Almond will be tried at full-back with Aston Villa Third team.

Almond said, "I will be watched by Mr. Hogan and two other members of the board and if I impress I will be given five weeks' intensive training with all the Aston Villa stars and then played in either the reserves or in the senior side."

Almond expressed appreciation of the kindness of other professional players who are keen to improve his football technique.

The training methods are efficient and certainly aim at placing players on the field in a fit condition.

Heavy Grounds

Almond said that the heavy grounds and the strange climate are features that affect overseas players' form.

"Mr. Hogan warned me about these factors, but explained that he will be patient as I'm the first Australian-born player to ever join the famous Aston Villa Club," wrote Almond.

In another letter, the Aston Villa manager, Mr. E. Houghton, said that he has high hopes of Almond making the grade as a full-back.

Cessnock were Northern Premiers, while Corrimal were Southern Premiers.

Austrian Rapids, South China and South Africa would all tour Australia this season, this was far too many overseas teams to have in one season and it should never be allowed to happen again.

The competition was again conducted in two division, North, and South, those teams being

Northern Division

Adamstown, Cardiff, Cessnock, East Lakes, Lake Macquarie, Mayfield United, Merewether Advance, Wallsend, Weston, and West Wallsend.

Southern Division

Alfred The Great

Alfred Quill first came to notice playing for Pymont U/18 team in 1927.

After playing only seven games he was selected for the NSW Representative side.

Alf's talent did not go unnoticed for long, for he was soon called up to the first team in Pymont 1928 team, for the right wing position.

After playing six first grade matches on the right wing, the regular centre forward was sidelined due to injuries, and there Alf Quill stayed hitting the net no fewer than 31 times for the 1928 season.

1929 saw Alf sign with Annandale Leichhardt with another great side, where such great players as Harper, Banks, who was the captain and coach, Joe Harris, G. Froome and Bob Sneddon played.

1930 and 1931 saw Annandale Leichhardt with another great side, like Harper, Banks, Naismith, Hains, Simmons, Gray, Johnson, George Chiswick, Charlie O'Connor who was a South African and Sneddon, most of these players were Scotchman.

Great Depression

1932 arrived bringing with it massive unemployment, and Quill was approached to come to Wallsend, and in his own words he never regretted it.

When I asked Alf what were his impressions after arriving at Wallsend, Alf had to be pressured, and very reluctantly he said that he was not greatly impressed with the kick and rush type of football being played, in fact he doubted that he would stay and see out the season.

Alf recalled with a chuckle that the late Jack "Dingy" O'Brien said to him on one occasion when they were about to play Weston at the famous Homestead, "Alf" Jack O'Brien said, "don't let Tom 'Pincher' Harris catch you in possession". "Sure enough" Alf said with a smile on his face "Pincher did catch me all day".

Pincher Harris would simply knock me over, and smiling help me up again. All day this happened" said Alf Quill. When the final whistle had blown Pincher Harris walked up to me and said "Son you had better make an appointment to see an Optometrist, as you have been bumping into me all day, and you may need glasses."

Alf recalled the days when Wallsend with such an astute committee behind them Messrs Tommy Lovett, Danny Rees, Andy Coleman, Wal Rushton, would hire special trains to Sydney and Gosford for picnics, and a special train to the Sydney Cricket Ground where 18000 saw the famous Wallsend Bolshies play Goodyear.

All the trains in those days left from the Wallsend Railway Station.

These trains were known as the "Red Terror"

1937 English Amateurs Tour

It was 1937 the year that the English Amateurs toured Australia with Bernard Joy as Captain, and Mr Wreford Brown was the Manager.

These two gentleman were so impressed with Quill that they sent glowing reports back to England.

In fact a number of Northern Players were also invited to England and were offered contracts.

Among players sought to come to England were Alf Quill, Bob Sevester, Jack "Digger" Evans, Jack "Bully" Hughes, and a little bloke called Skeeta. Of course that player was Jim "Skeeta" Wilkinson, and another all time great James Dowson Osborne, Bernard Joy said all these players could play in any first division club in England.

Mind you Wallsend like many clubs had players who were forced to leave Newcastle and Districts to play in Sydney, where work was available owing to the Great Depression. Many other players also had a stint in Sydney, some settled permanently in the big smoke, but some got out quickley when the depression was over.

Players who went to Sydney were, Jock Parkes, Hughie Parkes, Stan "Sticky" Parkes, Alf Perris, Ray Simons, Alby Holt, Hugh Workman, Ern Kemp, Scosh Edgerton, Winkie Forrester, Jack "Dingie" O'Brien, Jinna Pringle, Hugh Whitelaw, Harold Whitelaw Jack Williams and many more, Quill himself was forced back to Sydney for a couple of years, but when the opportunity came he returned to Newcastle.

Clubs like Metters, Gladesville Granville Leichhardt Annandale were to pleased to find work for these players.

Quill before playing football was very keen on athletics winning a number of races in State Championships.

After competing against the great Jim Charlton and Bob HAMPSON, ALF DECIDED ATHLETICS WAS NOT FOR HIM.

Critical of Selection Methods

Alf Quill was approached many times by opposition codes (Catch and Kill games) to play for them as a goal kicker. Perhaps the greatest disappointment for Alf Quill was after being selected to tour Malaysia and Singapore the tour was cancelled owing to the war

During the war 1939-45 the British Services had a team in the Sydney Competition called the HMS Golden Hind and the most impressive of these players were McGowan, Ason, while Royal Marines Perry Bates and Hunter transferred from the Golden Hind to play with the "Bolshies"

After the war Perry Bates and Hunter played 2nd division football in England. Aston was a 1st Division Player.

Alf Quill was very critical of the methods of selecting Australian teams before the war. Most selections were done to appease inter state associations and to cut expenceses.

After retiring from the game Alf coached Wallsend for eight seasons.

During his playing career Alf Quill played over 516 first grade games and scored some 1016 goals,

When I asked Alf to name me a team that he would have liked to have led with himself as centre forward, against some of the overseas teams that has visited Australia, He declined my offer for fear of offending many of his friends. But he did say we had plenty of great players who would have done well overseas, they included Jim McNabb, Jock Parkes, Bill "Podge" Maunder, Judy Masters, George Smith, Max Wynn, Jack "Digger" Evans, Billy Coolahan, Alec Heaney, Jim Osborne, Roy Crowhurst, Jim "Skeeta" Wilkinson, Jack "Bully" Hughes, Ian Davidson, Joe Marston and in his mind Reg Date was the greatest of them all, Alf mentioned many more players, but I was too slow in writing them down.

Alfred Quill you will always be "Alfred The Great" You are a legend in Northern and Australian Football, a true sportsman and a great gentleman who gave pleasure to us all many many thanks.

Quill's scoring record of 1937, A 16 team inter city competition with only 22 rounds to be played. One can only guess what this man would have done if the full 30 premierships matches had been played.

NEW SOUTH WALES

A crisis is brewing in the New South Wales soccer administration set up. In recent weeks much press and radio publicity has been given to a number of the first and second division clubs breaking away from the auspices of the ruling New South Wales body. It has been suggested that the clubs would form their own, individual competition. The crux of the problem lies in a dispute over the introduction of promotion and relegation. At present New South Wales is the only State not to offer a chance to New Australians to make good in senior soccer. Clubs such as Sydney Austral, Prague and Hakoah are well up to first division standard, but because of nearsighted control are confined to matches in the lower grade. The present position has been aggravated through the continual refusal of the New South Wales selectors to consider "New Australians" when choosing representative teams. Players such as Mildo Mueller (Prague centre-forward), Bill Westerveld (Sydney Austral centre-half), Jim De Pyper (Sydney Austral right wing), Al Levinson (Hakoah inside forward) are all deserving of representative selection. De Pyper played for Austrian Rapid against South China in Sydney, and scored three brilliant goals. There were suggestions after the match that the Austrians would take him home with them to play in the Austrian League. Nothing further has been heard on this matter.

These four mentioned above are only four of many who could certainly do no worse in representative matches than those who have been tried.

Critics, generally, however, do not think a breakaway movement will occur. But they do think that the pressure brought to bear on the Association will result in a twelve team first division competition operating next year. This WOULD be a progressive move, and in the best interests of the code. Many of the senior clubs are known to be dissatisfied with the present methods of officialdom. The present dispute between the Association and the clubs has been in the offing now for many years. All clubs are discontented at the way the New South Wales Association has vested all control into the hands of eight directors, who act alternately as administrators, selectors, judiciary committee, and who make all referee appointments. The clubs hope for a method of club delegates running the various committees, and perhaps the introduction of five international soccer players of former years being appointed as selectors. The directors could then concern themselves solely with administration and leave the practical side of the business to men with greater soccer experience.

HE MADE THE FAMILY JEWELLS WITH A PAIR OF FOOTBALL BOOTS.
(As written by George Crawford Daily Mirror Writer)

A gift pair of football boots to Jack "Bully" Hughes, when he was "down and out", started him on the road to fame and fortune.

Scoring 817 goals in 362 first grade matches, played for Australia in 20 tests against four different nations.

Jack Hughes retired at 32 years of age, and was regarded as the greatest player Australia had produced.

Most critics agree that he was just a little better than "Judy Masters" and Bill "Podge" Maunder.

A well known former Australian selector tells how Hughes play so worried the Palestine team in 1939, asked that he be dropped from the Australian side, "Hughes" was not dropped.

It was after the last match of this series that Hughes almost achieved the ambition of every Australian Soccer Player-to play in the English League as a Professional. Hughes got the offer from Newcastle- 2000 English Pounds signing on fee, 6 Pounds a win, 3 Pounds a loss or a draw. But he refused the offer because Newcastle wouldn't guarantee a return ticket for his wife.

Only three others players till then had received offers from England.

They were James Jackson from Arsenal in 1896, William "Podge" Maunder from St Mirrens in 1925, W. Jennings to Tottenham Hotspurs in 1927. (By the way Jackson played with Hamilton, Wallsend and Adamstown before accepting the offer).

W. Jennings played with Adamstown, Podge Maunder, and Bully Hughes played with West Wallsend.

Jackson, an uncle of Archie Jackson of Cricket fame accepted, he also played with Newcastle United and Glasgow Rangers, after retiring he owned a number of Brickyards.

Bully Hughes learned his football the hard way, "with the "Miners" of West Wallsend coalfields-cradle of many of Australia's best players.

Miners wearing hob nailed boots, played a rough and tumbled sort of football after their days work.

Hughes, barefooted, played with them when he was 11 years old.

He was a menace in the school teams, thats how he got his nickname.

When he was 14 he created what is probably a world record, Hughes played a game for the West Wallsend under 16 team, and scored 8 goals.

After the match he went straight back onto the field and scored 7 goals for the under 18 team.

Jack Bully Hughes started on his way to fame in 1929. International Centre Forward "Podge" Maunder dropped out of the West Wallsend team on the eve of their biggest match of the season against Wallsend, Maunder withdrawal upset the town.

Men on the street corners said dolefully; Westy not worth a "bumper" without Maunder.

Hughes aged 16 then, out of work and barefooted, was at the training ground when the players lazed on the grass discussing how to ajust the problem.

"What about the kid.? asked Clarrie Coutts,international captain.

"Too young and small",the others replied,Hughes was only seven and half stone.

Coutts said;"if he's good enough he's big enough,I think this kid is the best Centre in Australia."

Those words from Coutts were sufficient recommendation for the selectors.

But the whole Hughes family was out of work."Bully had no Football boots.

Bully Hughes went to his old schoolmaster Mr Sid Grant, who had taught him to play.

Mr.Grant,who subsequently became President of the State League bought Hughes the best pair of Boots in Newcastle, wished him luck.

Next day the frail 16 year old lad replaced Australia's greatest player as leader of the forward line of the most famous Soccer team in State League History.

Within a sensational 15 minutes he had slammed the ball twice into the net,He scored another goal in the second half, which enabled his team to win 5.2.

The great Podge Maunder played only a few games after that.

When Podge Maunder was in the team,Hughes played inside left, the position in which he made most of his fame.

Jack "Bully" Hughes
1914-1965

Three years later Sydney talent scouts were after Hughes, Mr.Bill Douglas a Metters official,said to him;I would do anything to get you to Sydney to play for Metters,"O.K",said Hughes,"if you want me that badly I'll play for Metters-so long as you find me a job,and also for my father and brother." Douglas not only found jobs for the three of them,but also for "Bullys" girl friend,his sister,and her boyfriend. As an added incentive,he found a house for the family to live in.

So the Hughes family came to Sydney,only one member of the family not catered for was the nine year junior member of the family,who looked wide eyed at the big smoke.

Metters got the best out of Hughes;

Besides "Bully",his elder brother Ben became a star;and the "Kid"BECAME A CENTRE FORWARD.

Father Hughes for several years was Metters Treasurer.

In 1937 Hughes created a Test World record on the Sydney Cricket Ground by scoring a goal in 63 seconds against the English Amateurs.

Because of this feat, English newspapers confused him with a Durham junior of the same name, who signed on with Newcastle United two days later.

They featured stories of the famous Australian who was in England.

Australian newspapers follow it up, and Hughes mystified, played "possum". The storey, he thought, was advance publicity, and really meant an offer from the English club.

He didn't learn until years later that the two men of the same name, living 14,000 miles apart, had been confused-and that the other had cashed-in on his reputation.

Keeper of the game

In flight: Bill Mahoney at full stretch to deflect a shot from Chinese forward Lee Chun Fat while playing for NSW in Sydney in 1953

Bill Mahoney

IN February, 1950, four months short of his 20th birthday, Bill Mahoney was selected to tour South Africa with the Australian soccer team as a goalkeeper.

It was as a 'keeper that Bill had begun his competitive soccer career with Wallsend's under-14 team.

In 1945 he was in the Combined High School team and in 1947, aged 17, he was chosen for the Newcastle under-18 side.

In August, 1948, he played his first senior game for Wallsend, at a time when that team included players of the calibre of Alf Quill, Reg Date, Dick Kemp, George Arthur, Jack Lonergan, Hedley Parkes and Bob Frame.

At 19 Bill Mahoney was selected to keep goal for NSW against a touring Yugoslavia side.

The tour to South Africa followed and on that tour he played eight matches.

In 1951 Bill transferred to Adamstown for a fee of £20.

It was the first of 11 seasons spent with Adamstown (he returned to Wallsend for one season in 1954) and during his time with the club he continued to represent Australia, NSW and Northern NSW.

In 1964 he moved to the then second division club, Weston, and helped the club climb to the first division.

Mahoney retired from top-grade soccer in 1965 but returned for a season to play with second division Dudley in 1967.

It was his final season as a player but he went on to serve as a director on the board of the Northern NSW Soccer Federation, as manager of junior and senior representative teams and as a member of the Referees Appointments Board.

He was awarded life membership of the Northern NSW Soccer Federation in 1978.

In his playing years, Bill Mahoney represented Australia 14 times, including three Tests; played twice for an Australian XI and once for the Rest of Australia; played eight times for NSW; represented Northern NSW four times; played 313 senior games and 36 second division games.

PROMOTION AND RELEGATION

By "UNOMI"

Contrary to the beliefs of some officials in the game, the N.S.W. Association has employed Promotion and Relegation for years. Take for instance the Eastern Suburbs' club of a year ago, which had formerly been known as Ex-Imperial. This club was a first grade unit, but its affairs did not warrant its continuance in the major competition, so it was relegated. In the same year, Gladesville-Ryde, Balgownie and North Shore were all promoted from the Southern League.

So the next time you argue about the introduction of Promotion and Relegation, remember those facts because proof is available of them.

Mind you, that does not, of course, refer to AUTOMATIC promotion and relegation which is a very vastly different thing, and could lead to as many arguments as you possibly could derive in all soccer football.

The AUTOMATIC variety provides for the promotion of the first one or two teams from the second division of a competition to the First division, with the lowest two teams of the first division being relegated to take their places.

It is practised in many countries and successfully, too, but it is safe to say that not one single country which at present finds it successful would continue with it if the economy of the game became affected adversely.

There are many advocates for its introduction in New South Wales but after interviewing many of them, I have formed the impression that none have studied the economics of its introduction. In fact, it is mostly advocated by peoples from countries where it is practised, who suggest that as it works successfully "AT HOME", there is no reason why it cannot do so here.

If you study it as closely as I have done, you will admit that the best we can say at this juncture is that it MAY work, but it would be sheerly an experiment.

Could, for instance, Pymont-Balmain, St. Peters, Hornsby-Epping, Polonia Sutherland in the South, and any of the Northern League teams undertake the expensive conducting of a State Premiership club? Perhaps some of them may manage, BUT . . . it is extremely doubtful.

It has also been said that the scheme provides the utmost incentive for clubs to retain their 1st division places or for those seeking promotion.

1st division clubs already have plenty of incentive in the rewards they derive from Semi-Finals and Finals revenue, plus the honours to be won. AND . . . this is quite definite. There are not more than seven of the existing Southern League clubs, and not more than ONE of the Northern League clubs which have expressed desire for the introduction of Automatic Promotion and Relegation. Are all of the others to be forced into a scheme which they do not desire and which they cannot afford? There are only a few of the anomalies connected with the Automatic system and there are many others applicable to New South Wales conditions. However, another issue of this publication will be published on January 21 and if you have a good answer to these anomalies, no doubt the Editor will be pleased to grant your views some space.

A "NEWSPAPER" BREAKAWAY

A disquieting newspaper article during last week inferred that a breakaway move was afoot amongst New Australian clubs of the N.S.W. Soccer Football Association. Reasons suggested or inferred were that the Association would not promote any New Australian team.

That statement can safely be discarded as rubbish. For some years, the N.S.W.S.F.A. carried a New Australian team in its Northern competition, namely Greta Austral, and that team eventually withdrew because of the many players who left this State.

The Board of Directors have never discussed any subject which could lead to inference that New Australian teams would not be promoted. On the contrary, Sydney Austral, Prague, Hakoah, Europa and Polonia have all been promoted from the Sydney Metropolitan League, to the Southern League competition of the N.S.W. Association.

In the last two seasons, the application of Sydney Austral was considered and if the newspaper writers' inference had been correct, the application would not have been so considered.

The simple truth was that no vacancies were available.

Quite a number of people do not realise that the quality of a team's players is not the sole reason why a team should be promoted. There are many others, such as: The qualifications of its managements; the club's financial position to meet the heavy commitments of a State League season; its prepared efforts to assist the code by helping juniors and schoolboys, and generally promoting soccer interest and facilities in its own area. There is also the question of its ground. Can the club provide a fully enclosed ground? Are the ground facilities and amenities good enough for big crowds? What are the conveniences of travel to and from the ground for the public?

These are only a few of the factors which the Board must take into consideration when a promotion is to be made.

There is also another big question, and that is, if two new teams were to be promoted, which two teams will be dropped to permit that to be done?

Some suggest that a twelve team competition would be the answer, and I know the Board is going to discuss that angle at the appropriate time. Consideration will have to be given to the time when the competition would need to commence and when it would finish, especially if there is an international tour in the season.

Other people suggest automatic promotion and relegation, but this is a subject which has many for and againsts and would take up more space than can be permitted for this article.

Meanwhile, any talk of "A Bar Against New Australian Teams" must be regarded as silly. None does, nor ever has, existed. Any such talk can lead to racial hate which is not the desire of any true soccer man, and the sponsor of such should be treated with contempt by all sports people who like fair play.

HAKOAH PRESIDENT INDIGNANT

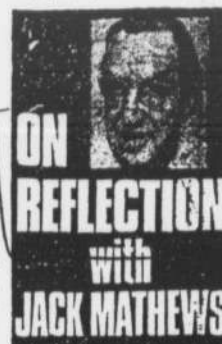

Hakoah Club president, Mr. A. Ert, was incensed about a report published in the "Daily Telegraph" on Saturday, 27th August, 1955.

The report indicated that a prominent Hakoah official intimated that his club was interested in the "TELEGRAPH'S SOCCER BREAKAWAY".

Mr. Ert absolutely refutes the entire article and states his committee has never discussed anything connected with such a proposition.

On the contrary, he gave to the N.S.W. Association his club's assurance for its continued loyalty and asked that the Hakoah Club and all its members be disassociated with the article mentioned.

Broadmeadow had its share of sport fame

Those were the days when miners worked on Saturdays. Many of those who completed shifts at the old Dudley and Gully pits would walk, still covered in coal dust, to the 'Meadow and wash from a bucket or tap at the rear of the Premier Hotel, down a pint or two of ale, and then cross the road to play or watch football.

Footrunning and quoits drew much attention, with quoit alleys and running tracks situated at the rear of the hotel, while the Broadway Stadium, which had only a short life, attracted many hopefuls from all parts of the North.

Soccer brought the area to State-wide notice when a Broadmeadow team defeated Pymont Rangers in the final of the Gardiner Cup knockout competition in 1907. And thereby hangs a tale.

The Adamstown Rosebuds Club had made some disparaging remarks about the State Association decision to force it to replay a tied match in the 1906 competition on a Sydney ground. Its entry in 1907 was rejected because, said the Sydney-based officials, the club had not apologised for its criticism.

Bob Stevenson, secretary of the Northern Association and an official of the Broadmeadow Club, suggested a way out. He entered a team from the 'Meadow club in the cup competition, transferred Adamstown's players to his club — and they won the cup. The team played a scoreless draw with Pymont Rangers at Lilyfield but won the replay three goals to two, at Newcastle Showground. The players, most of whom lived at Broadmeadow, were transferred back to the Adamstown Club.

There were many notable players in that team, which was — Broigly, Elgey; G. Campbell, Jack Doyle; W. Harris, W. ('Skinner') Maxwell, J. George; E. Clark, W. Jennings, S. Bartley, S. Russell, S. Harris, Sam Harris was injured in the first match and T. Jones took his place in the replay, which went into extra time before being decided.

SIDE DRAWS WITH CHINA

The youthful Northern District Soccer team played a 3-all draw with the Eastern Athletic (Hongkong) team at Crystal Palace ground, Wallsend, yesterday.

The team vindicated the selectors' choice and except for a period late in the second half, when it led 3-1, it outplayed the Chinese side in all departments.

The attendance, estimated at 7000, was larger than that when Australia beat Austria F.K. in the first Test match on the same ground a week earlier.

Playing as a team, the Northern District players gave their opponents little latitude till they lost their grip of the game towards the finish, and it was in that brief period that the Chinese scored two goals to draw level.

Beginning confidently Northern District team forced a corner kick in the first minute. Yong Poy Dor, the Chinese goalkeeper, cleared with a hefty kick. Then Burgoine, the youthful Northern District centre-forward, was worried out of possession by the defence when in a good position to score.

G. Arthur, the left half-back, who played an excellent game, hit the crossbar with a hard shot and from the rebound Burgoine netted.

Less than a minute later China levelled the score with an excellent goal by Hau Chung To on the left wing.

Following a period of beautiful ground work by both teams the ball was sent towards China's goal, and judging the dropping ball splendidly Burgoine gave Yong Poy Dor no chance with a hard drive which put Northern District in the lead, 2-1.

The Hongkong players introduced every manoeuvre they knew, but found the Northern District's defence too sound. In stopping one hard was hit in the stomach and play was held up for a couple of minutes till he recovered.

Trying desperately to draw level, the Chinese passed with precision. Mahoney was knocked down in saving a hard shot and a Northern District back jumped into position and stopped another attempt at goal.

The score was unaltered at half time.

Immediately after the interval the Chinese made several sorties, but Mahoney, ably supported by Allanson and Atkinson, kept his goal intact.

Northern District again took command and Yong Poy Dor merited the applause for stopping a hard drive. The youthful Northern District players kept the ball at ground level and generally kept command of the game.

Ho Cheung Yau, inside right, combined well with Hau Chung To on the left wing and brought play back into Northern District's territory. Hau Chung To almost scored when he headed the ball towards goal, causing Mahoney to spring sideways to stop the shot. A few seconds later Ho Cheung Yau swung his arms in disappointment when he lofted the ball over the bar with only Mahoney in front of him.

Northern District led 3-1 when A. Thomas netted from the left. From the kick-off the Chinese, with beautiful ground work, moved the ball to the left wing and back towards the centre and Mahoney again saved a hard drive by Lo Po Tsang, centre-forward, from close in.

At this stage, with victory players began to allow their opponents too much latitude. Their previous success was due to the fact that each member of the team tackled his opponent at the precise time.

Chu Wing Keung netted when he received the ball from the left wing, making the score 3-2 in Northern District's favour.

China drew level when Ho Chung Yau scored after a movement in which the ball was swung from one side of the field to the other in a passing rush which was too much for the Northern District's defence.

The Chinese kept up the pressure and Atkinson was injured in defending his goal. Then Mahoney brought the crowd to its feet when he was felled with a hard shot from close in but kept the ball in his possession and got it away.

The Secretary-coach of the Hongkong team (Mr. L. J. Channing) said later that he had noticed an improvement in Australian players since his previous visit in 1953 with the Eastern Athletic team.

The Northern District eleven had played creditably and with fighting spirit till late in the second half when it possibly had been lulled into a sense of security. He was impressed by the ability shown by several of the Northern District players. He gave special mention to B. Lewson, the Mayfield United inside forward and also praised Arthur and O'Neill.

The Chinese team will play Cassnock team at Cassnock on Wednesday, July 31, and will to enter a new team and

TWO NEWCASTLE MEN IN SOCCER TEST SIDE

By "The Onlooker"

Two Newcastle players have been included in the Australian team to meet China in the first Soccer Test in Sydney on Saturday.

They are the goalkeeper, W. Mahoney, of Adamstown, and the inside-left, J. Lennard, of Mayfield United.

Lennard's father, Percy Lennard, of Cessnock, played against earlier Chinese sides which visited Australia.

Queensland has two representatives, one of whom will be captain, in the team, and Victoria and South Australia one each.

The team is—

GOAL: W. Mahoney (Adamstown).

FULL-BACKS: M. O'Malley (South Australia), D. Wendt (Auburn).

HALF-BACKS: F. Sands (Leichhardt), R. Lawrie (Queensland) captain, A. Drennan (Victoria).

FORWARDS: C. Stewart (Woonona), A. Garside (Granville), G. Nunn (Queensland), J. Lennard (Mayfield United), H. Robertson (Leichhardt).

RESERVES: L. Hearne (East Lakes), R. Madden

(Bankstown), M. Walker (Bankstown).

O'Malley, Wendt, Sands, Garside and Lennard are all new to international Soccer.

The team is not likely to satisfy anyone, except those who chose it. Even they will have cause to wonder if they could not have nominated another team which could defeat their nominations. Most Soccer enthusiasts could do so without overtaxing their football knowledge.

The inclusion of A. Garside as inside-right will cause most argument. Garside played centre-forward for N.S.W. against China on Saturday and, apart from scoring one goal which anyone in the crowd could have scored with as much ease did nothing to draw attention to his presence on the field. There was no justification in either that match or in his club displays to include him as an inside forward in a Test team. And when his inclusion means that Lennard has to break his successful association with C. Stewart so that he can play inside-left, the selection becomes even more difficult to follow.

Robertson will, no doubt, be delighted that he has been given Lennard as a partner while Stewart will probably be wondering what he has done to have Garside thrust upon him.

The inclusion of Nunn was certain, for he is the centre-forward in possession when it comes to Australian teams. He will need to work overtime to keep Garside in the picture.

R. Lawrie is a fine player and a good captain. None would envy at his selection as a right half-back, but he is a doubtful proposition as a centre half-back against the fast moving Chinese forwards.

F. Sands is fortunate to be given his international cap on such poor recommendation as he advanced on Saturday. G. Arthur, of Wallsend, is head and shoulders above him as a right half-back. A. Drennan, of Victoria, is a capable and experienced wing half-back but it has to be an exceptionally strong intermediate line which can afford to discard K. O'Neill, of Cessnock.

D. Wendt, the former Adamstown player, well deserves his place, but he now has the task of consolidating his position in front of him. L. Hearne, of East Lakes, who is a reserve on Saturday, must be pushing him closely for the left full-back place.

Apparently outstanding form in a State match is of little account, otherwise C. Almond, of Cessnock, the best defender in Saturday's match, would have "walked" into the team. His turn must come. Certainly M. O'Malley, of Adelaide, of whom one has heard good reports, must be outstanding to take his place.

W. Henderson, of Granville, was a popular tip for the goalkeeping position but apparently China's three goals against him yesterday lowered his stocks. Mahoney did nothing on Saturday that could be used as an excuse to discard him. There are few better keepers.

Five Northern Players In Aust. Team To Play Chinese

By "CELTIC."

Five Northern players have been chosen in the Australian Soccer XI to play China at the Newcastle Sports Ground on Saturday.

Officials expect a crowd of at least 12,000 to see this match which is certain to provide an attractive exhibition of soccer.

Three players from States other than N.S.W. have been invited to play. Of this trio G. Nunn and R. Laurie, both of Queensland, are established internationals while centre-half P. Clark (Victoria) is a former overseas player with experience at the "lopper" game.

Australia's defence is solid with Bill Henderson of Granville getting his chance in goal.

Henderson is the son of former international Andy Henderson, who years ago played with the now defunct Curri Club.

Henderson has clever anticipation and a long clearing punt. He may yet prove Australia's future custodian.

The full-back pair, C. Almond and L. Hearne played well as a unit against the Chinese at Cessnock yesterday.

Hearne, in particular, has uncanny positional sense in his covering. This type of tactics gives the visitors little time in which to do any finessing.

Again the Almond-Hearne combination appeals for the swiftness of Almond's recovery.

The Australian half-back line has strength in the wing halves.

The centre-half Clarke has built up a reputation in Melbourne for his keen positional play.

Internationals In Attack

The Australian attack has five experienced players—all internationals.

The inclusion of Reg. Date is pleasing as this player has given over 16 years of faithful service to the senior Soccer ranks. Date is very keen to win a place in a Test match and his vast army of admirers will wish him well.

C. Stewart of Woonona and Her Robertson of Leichhardt have occupied the flank positions. Although not as speedy as of yore, both are adept at ball control and excellent corner kickers.

Jack Lennard will make his fourth appearance against the visitors. A brilliant forager, Lennard looks certain for further honors in the international sphere.

Centre-forward Gordon Nunn has been given another chance to make up for his patchy display in the First Test.

The Australian Team: Goal, W. Henderson (N.S.W.); half-backs, C. Almond

(N.S.W.), L. Hearne (N.S.W.); half-backs, R. Laurie (Qld.), P. Clark (Vic.), K. O'Neill (N.S.W.); forwards, C. Stewart (N.S.W.), J. Lennard (N.S.W.), G. Nunn (Qld.), R. Date (N.S.W.), H. Robertson (N.S.W.); reserves, G. Arthur (N.S.W.), A. Johns (N.S.W.).

China will field its strongest team.

Its managers hope to secure a win, which will give the team more confidence for the Second Test which will be played in Brisbane on Aug. 8.

There will be early matches on Saturday continuing all day.

A REMARKABLE REUNION

The time: Thursday the eleventh of August, 1955, three p.m.

The place: Sydney Cricket Ground No. 2.

We were there to see the Australian team in training for their forthcoming match against South China to be played at the Sydney Sports Ground the following Saturday.

What do you do if you want to have a good time during a mostly dull training session? You go behind Bill Henderson's goal. For Bill is just about the brightest fellow in the game. His witty remarks to (and about) everybody keep you in a good mood.

A few other people came along to see the boys busy. One of them was Andy Henderson, Senr., Bill's father. This old-timer, who was born in Scotland, is always ready to talk about football. What he does not know about the game is not worth worrying about!

In no time our conversation was about the year 1923, when Henderson Senior represented Australia against . . . South China.

"Mind you," said Andy, "these fellows could play football. Their centre-forward, Lee Wai Tong, was a real champion. Could this bloke score!"

A few minutes later the neatly dressed Chinese team arrived at the ground, led by their coach. His name? Lee Wai Tong . . .

The two old rivals shook hands. Big smiles and plenty of friendly words.

Henderson: "Do you remember that game Metropolis versus South China, back in 1923? You played centre-forward and I was centre-half. We drew three-all. You scored all the Chinese goals and you received the medal for the best player on the field."

Lee: "Do I remember! That was a terrific game. Look at your watch. You see? It is three o'clock. And today is the eleventh of August. So it is at this very moment 22 years ago that we kicked off."

Henderson: "That's right, old boy. How time flies. By the way, do you see that red-headed goalie there? That is my son. He plays against your boys now."

Lee: "And do you see that fellow there? That is my son, who plays centre-forward for South China now. Amazing, isn't it?"

The sons were called on to the scene. Two proud fathers and two smiling sons made a team of four happy sportsmen. Who wants more proof of the value of sport for international friendship and understanding . . .

George Plummer of Whitebridge.

One of the most respected Football enthusiasts in the North is George Plummer of Whitebridge near Newcastle. A life member of the Association.

Mr Plummer was born in Findon Hill, near Sacarsen, in the County of Durham in 1871.

After an early education at the Tanfield School, George Plummer entered the mining industry. He was associated with the Tanfield Lea Colliery for many years and rose from the humble job of greaser to that of chief foreman and acting undermanager.

George Plummer at the age of nine years played goalkeeper for the New Charleston Board School in Yorkshire.

After leaving school George Plummer played for the Sacaren Club till he was 30 years of age.

Besides Football, he became a county champion with the rifle as a member of the Sacarcen Rifle Club.

At the Oakley Spring Range he won the famous Oakley clock in 1902.

During the first World War George Plummer served with the 4th Durham Regiment and fought in the early battles on the fields of Northern France.

George served as instructor for the divisional mining company in underground tunnelling.

Wrestling was also one of his famous pastimes, His father was a master of the Cumberland style of wrestling. George won the divisional championship for wrestling. He also won many amateur honours at boxing.

When peace came in 1919, George returned to Ferry Hill Colliery as fore-overman.

Owing to the illness of his wife, George came to Australia in 1922 and settled in Newcastle, but later accepted a colliery appointment at Aberdare Central, near Cessnock. However, he returned to Dudley, where he was far and wide for his work as a masseur.

After he retired from Burwood Colliery, he earned the titles of "Wizard of Oz" and "Mandrake" for his work in mending the ills of footballers.

His many cures have helped many of the star players to continue their careers.

But Mr George Plummer will always be remembered for that most famous artistic of trophy's that is so beautiful which is priceless "The George Plummer Cup"

Austrian Side Gives Soccer Lesson

The Austrian Rapid Soccer team, in what was virtually a practice match for it at Cessnock yesterday, defeated a Northern District XI, 10 goals to one. It might without much more effort have doubled its score.

No team that has visited the North in the last 20 years has given a more outstanding exhibition of Soccer. Ball control was faultless and positional play immaculate.

The 1951 English professional side might have been a more robust combination, but, despite its highly-priced players, was no more skilled.

On yesterday's showing Australia obviously has much to learn about Soccer football, but as a saving grace there were some players who even in the space of 90 minutes seemed to gain inspiration from their opponents.

The Northern District XI did not play well — not because the players did not try to their utmost, but because their opponents did not allow them to reach the expectation of selectors.

But it could not be said that any of the Northern players were failures. No matter what combination the Northern selection committee hit upon, the result would have been little different.

Best player in the North was, conversely, one who did not shine to a great degree. He was Cliff Almond, of Cessnock. He recently returned to Cessnock after a season in Scotland and played the type of football his opponents played. There was no player in the North's team able to combine with him. But Almond would have fitted into any place in which the Austrian team could have placed him.

Learned More

Almond, after only one season of football education in Scotland, has outstripped his Australian colleagues in the arts and crafts of the game.

Almond, who played against the English and Chinese teams, said after the match that he regarded Austrian Rapid as the best football team — from a sense of "pure" football — that had visited Australia in his time.

Probably the English 1951 team was more robust on the flanks and had more of the will-to-win spirit, but it had not as much football skill as this side," he said.

Almond said he did not believe any of the top Scottish teams — Glasgow Rangers, Celtic, Queen's Park — would hold the Austrian Rapid.

That is a most informative commentary — particularly when it is realised that it was the Austrian Rapid's virtual "second" side that played at Cessnock.

Start In Schools

It is obvious to any Soccer-minded enthusiast who saw yesterday's "exhibition" — which is what the match turned out to be — that if Australia wants to make a place for itself in world Soccer its planning must begin much lower down the age-scale. Its hope is to coach schoolboys to play the class of superb Soccer the Austrian Rapid played at Cessnock yesterday.

Australians have heard for many years of "draught board" Soccer and, because they were bemused by the vigour of our players, shrugged the idea away. But the Austrian Rapid team — not the world's best — showed there is such a thing.

The Austrians left the North's best players standing with their close passing, triangular passing, long passing and back passing. The ball was placed where the kicker wanted it to go — and always on the foot of a team-mate.

No Match

The Northern players had no such skill. They had merely their every-day, honest, kick-and-rush method on which to fall back.

One striking example was in the work of the goalkeepers. Walter Zeeman, regarded as one of the best goalkeepers in the world, handled the ball 14 times in the first 21 minutes. When clearing his goal he did not kick the ball at all in that time. He threw it — and each time it landed at the foot of a team-mate, whether 10 or 30 yards away. But the Austrians kept possession of the ball.

D. Bone, the Northern District "keeper, handled the ball 11 times in the same period. He kicked it. And all but once the ball went to an Australian player.

Kept Ball

Unless an Austrian forward had a clear sight of the goal at which to shoot he turned and ran the ball downfield till the forward line regrouped and then the attack began again — but the Austrians kept the ball among themselves.

The Northern forwards almost fell over themselves — and sometimes did — in their eagerness to get close enough to the Austrian goal to shoot, regardless of the position of their supporting forwards. And, since they were allowed to go only so far before a covering defender pounced on them, their shots at goal were spoilt or deflected.

Would you please note that the Austrian Rapids were so impressed with J.De Pyper a Dutch player playing in Sydney that they invited him to play for them against The South China team.

Also some 37 years later in a qualifying match in Sydney for the Olympic games in Barcelona in 1992 De Pyper's son would play against Australia with the Netherlands team.

Date Was The Greatest.

ON REFLECTION with Jack Mathews Sporting Editor
Newcastle Morning Herald

On a mudheap at Sydney Cricket Ground one miserable Saturday afternoon in 1951 an English professional team defeated Australia by 17 goals to nil, the highest loss debited against a side in an international football match anywhere, anytime, in the world.

Yet, on that day so depressing to Australian soccer, one member of its down cast team was paid a remarkable compliment by Reg Flewin, the England team captain, Flewin had all the qualifications to assess a rival's worth for not only was he Portsmouth's captain, as well as Englands, but he was a top international and a player of vast experience.

The Australian he singled out for praise was the great and brilliant Reg Date.

Discussing the match with Flewin, I suggested England had been remarkably generous in pulling its punches and that it could easily have won by 20-25 goals. We would have too had it not been for Reg Date, said Flewin, the team's centre half half back or stopper. "I planned to move up the field and help in attack so we could score three or more goals, But Date was always so dangerous I could not afford to leave him. He'd be a top liner in an English team".

That not only accurately summed up Dates great lone effort that dismal day but echoed the sentiments of defenders in all teams except those for which he played. As Flewin said of him, Date was always dangerous, particularly when he had the goal in his sights, No goalkeepers could look forward to a pleasant afternoon when Date was in opposition.

He scored 679 goals in competition matches between 1938 and 1953.

Alf ("Artie") Quill scored more times, between 1927-and 1949 Quill scored 868 times in competition play. The two, when side by side in Wallsend's forward line, were "Holy Terrors" to the opposing sides they invariably cut to ribbons,

That Reg Date was to become one of the greatest forwards Australian Football produced was clearly evident when he was a very young schoolboy. Never coached but encouraged by his grandmother Wilson who lived in Cross Street (Plattsburg) Wallsend, this young boy spent hours kicking a tennis ball against a County Council Sub Station brick wall, very early, he gained masterly control, magnificent reflexes and a hunger for goals.

He played for Plattsburg Public School teams, In one season with the under 12 side Date rewrote the record books. He did not score fewer than seven goals in any match,. In one of them he hit the back of the net 21 times when the side defeated New Lambton 24 nil. In the school competition season the young sharpshooter had a tally of 246 goals for the Plattsburg team.

There are claims that this is a world record for a schoolboy, I have not found an authority to endorse the

the claim, But neither have I COME ACROSS ONE TO REFUTE
AND I DONT BELIEVE I EVER WILL.

Master Date was naturally an automatic choice for Newcastle, Northern and State school teams - the shape of things to come.

He became a member of Wallsend club and moved up through the ranks into the top grade side when still a stripling.
He stayed with the club(Wallsend) TILL 1944, where he then joined Canterbury Bankstown club with Harold "Pippy" Wilkinson, Jack "Spike" Lonergan, Robert "Bunny" Fenwick, .

His greatest individual scoring feat in senior grade premiership matches was against Weston at Wallsend's Crystal Palace Ground on April 10 1943 He scored 9 times to create a new Australian goalscoring record.
In the same season he scored seven goals against Leichhardt
Annandale in a Priest Cup Final. He also netted seven times
For Canterbury Bankstown v Drummoyne on june 22 1946.

Reg Date played for tne North many times and also played for the South v North He also played for NSW many times than he could recall

He won State Cup Medals, Daniels Cup, State Premierships
It has been my fortune in the last 40 years to see many topline players in the four codes of football played in Australia, Never did I see one more brilliant, one more spectacular or dangerous to his opposition than was Date,
And never did I see a footballer play the game more fairly.

Date was all those things, yet was always a team man who shunned every chance to shine as an individual.
The team was always first with him. It's no wonder
Football followers so often shouted

Once again the competition would be played in two Divisions.
The Northern Division comprised the following.
Adamstown, East Lakes, Merewether Advance, Cardiff, Weston, Lake Macquarie, West Wallsend, Wallsend, Cessnock and Mayfield United.

The teams in the South were
Auburn, Balgownie, Bankstown, Canterbury Marrickville, Corrimal Rangers, Gladesville Ryde, Leichhardt Annandale,
North Shore, Prague, Sydney Austral, and Woonona Bulli

Cessnock were Northern and State Premiers, with Leichhardt Annandale Southern Premiers.

Mayfield United and West Wallsend met to decide 4th position in the Northern Competition.
Mayfield winning 1 Nil.

"CHARLIE STEWART — 7-126 THE PLAYER WHO CAME BACK"

by Crombie-Gray.

When Sydney selectors chose a 17-year-old youngster in the South team to meet North in the regular Ogilvie Cup match in 1945, critics scoffed. "Why, they've dropped Tommy Iredale for a mere slip of a kid!" was their unkind comment. Admittedly, to some the selection came as a shock but Charlie Stewart of Woonona-Bulli had earned his selection.

He played brilliantly in that match, scoring a goal which enabled South to force a 4-all draw. Many of his former disgruntled critics left the S.C.G. No. 2 after the game with a changed outlook. "Well, perhaps it was a good selection," they argued, "but mind you, they will burn the kid out before he is much older if he plays representative football. Why not let him alone with his club for four or five seasons and then bring him back to show his worth?"

State selectors did not heed this advice. In 1946 they chose Stewart in the New South Wales team to tour Queensland. He played against Queensland in Brisbane and his accurate crosses from the right wing aided colleague Reg Date to bang home eight "scorchers" in 10-2 victory for the Blues.

1947 was a season of mixed feelings for Stewart—bringing first elation, then disappointment. Early in the season he played for New South Wales against the South Africans and performed creditably. This led to his selection in the team for the First Test. But Stewart could never overcome the sound, copybook defence of the South African left-back, Don McCreadie. At times Stewart would beat his rival with clever footwork only to find his path blocked by the ever vigilant centre-half Naish. Selectors retained him for the Second Test in Brisbane, but whilst Stewart desperately tried he was unable to master the solid defence.

Stewart was omitted from the Australian side for the remainder of the season in favour of diminutive Lake Macquarie winger, Dickie Kemp, only 19 years of age and already tried and found wanting it seemed as if the predictions of the critics had some foundation after all. Indeed he was not only dropped for the rest of the season but discarded by the selectors of representative teams for the next five years. In these five years he missed selection against the Yugoslavians and Englishmen and was passed over for two tours—the 1948 trip to New Zealand and the 1950 visit to South Africa. But never in this period did Stewart give up hope of regaining his position in the Australian side.

1952 brought the turning point to his misfortune. His constantly sound displays in club football apparently influenced the selectors to give him another chance. He was chosen in the New South Wales team to participate in the All States' Carnival in Melbourne. Stewart realised this was his big chance to re-establish himself and he made full use of it.

The following season he played for New South Wales against the visiting Chinese team, netted two great goals, and a week later found himself restored to the Australian side. What an amazing comeback! Discarded at 19 for no less than five seasons only to fight his way back to the top at 26. How he proved those critics wrong—even if they had five seasons in which to say, "I told you so".

Last season Stewart again represented Australia this time against New Zealand. He played in the final two tests, notching two goals in the Second and contributing greatly to a 4-1 Australian victory.

So far this year Stewart has not gained selection for either Australia or New South Wales against the two visiting sides. But for the South Coast against China he played soundly and there is still time for him to regain his Australian representation. After all, though, he's been "up" since 1944 and he is only 26.

Stewart reckons he has five years of top flight football left yet and with the dirth of good wing talent he might yet regain his old position. Who knows?

Nationwide Monthly Magazine

EDITORIAL

Before our publication came on the market, we sent the following letter:—

July 20th, 1955.

The Secretary,
N.S.W. S.F.A. LTD.,
George Street, Sydney.

Dear Sir,

Following our conversation we hereby would like to ask whether it would be allowed by your Board of Directors to sell our magazine, "King Soccer" at the football grounds during the games.

We understand that this could interfere with the sale of your "Soccer Weekly", although we are of the opinion that it is unlikely, as your Weekly is more like a programme, whereas our Magazine gives news about past events.

Therefore, we suggest that we only sell to the public at grounds after they are seated and have bought the "Soccer Weekly".

It is our aim to popularize Soccer as much as we can by publishing this Magazine, and therefore trust that your Board of Directors will support us by giving us permission to bring "King Soccer" Magazine right there where the public can not avoid getting acquainted with it.

Yours faithfully,

CHARLES RUYS & C

So far, we received no reply. Instead, the following par appeared in "Soccer Weekly News", the "Official Programme" of the abovementioned Association:—

"Last Saturday, at Sydney Sports Ground, there were hundreds of complaints from people who purchased the new Soccer magazine, 'King Soccer'. The publication was on sale OUTSIDE the ground, and some of the more enthusiastic sellers were even pushing the publication at the tram stops.

"The complaints came from the many people who purchased the magazine under the impression it was an official programme, and then found out that the official programme was on sale within the gates.

"The Australian Soccer F.A. and the N.S.W. Soccer F.A. are in no way whatsoever connected with the magazine's publication, and has no power to prevent the promoters selling their publication outside the gates. It is, naturally regretted that so many good sports people were so misled into believing that they were purchasing the official programme, and all patrons at future international or club games, and at each and every ground, are advised that the official programme for any match will be sold only inside the ground."

We leave comment to the Readers.

We proudly draw your attention to the fact that in this, the second issue of "King Soccer", we offer our Readers 40 pages instead of 32, which already means an improvement of 8 pages.

Mayfield In

Mayfield United, because of its 1-nil victory against West Wallsend in the Northern premiership play-off at Adamstown on Saturday, will join Cessnock, Wallsend and Adamstown in the semi-final round. It will meet Wallsend, second team on the points score table, in the first semi-final at Adamstown next Saturday.

Saturday's match was a dour, defensive battle, but Mayfield United's reorganised attack made good use of the ball and relieved the pressure on its rearguard. This played a big part in the team's success. In the second half, with Mayfield leading by the goal it scored in the first, West Wallsend attacked consistently but the Mayfield forwards ran the ball out of the danger area many times and gave the defenders breathing space.

Awaba's Final

Lakes United did well to hold the minor premier, Adamstown Rangers, to a scoreless draw in the reserve grade semi-final at Adamstown. This means a replay, with the winner to meet the side which wins the second semi-final between Wallsend Royals and West Wallsend Bluebells.

Awaba won the Second Division final replay at Wallsend on Saturday but only after extra time. The teams drew 2-all, a week previously and on Saturday were 1-all when time was called. In the extra time Awaba scored twice and Blacksmiths once to give Awaba a 3-2 win.

A Northern team will meet a Continental XI, made up of players from overseas, at Wallsend on Sunday. The Northern team is—W. Mahoney (Adamstown); J. Steele (Wallsend), W. Mullen (Adamstown); J. O'Brien, G. Arthur (Wallsend), K. Grant (West Wallsend); B. Morrow (Wallsend), C. Lott (Mayfield United), W. Collins (West Wallsend), M. Hamilton (Adamstown), J. Peel (Wallsend).

Cessnock Routed; Wallsend Draws

By "The Onlooker"

Wallsend, with a 1-all draw against Canterbury-Marrickville at Lambert Park yesterday, is the North's last hope in the State Soccer major premierships, since Cessnock was unexpectedly, but soundly, beaten 4-1 by Corrimal in the other semi-final at Wallsend.

Wallsend had to fight its way from behind to force a draw, equalising with a penalty kick.

Cessnock missed with an early penalty kick, pulled up from 2-0 to 2-1 soon after half-time when it scored from the penalty spot but from then on was given a football lesson.

The end of the season will be delayed for at least one week since Wallsend and Canterbury-Marrickville have to replay their match to decide which will meet Corrimal in the final.

If Canterbury-Marrickville is willing to cede ground advantage the match will be played at Wallsend on Sunday. If not it probably will be played at Adamstown on Saturday.

Cessnock has the right to challenge the premierships winner and will exercise it, but it will have to wait for at least three weeks before it plays again. The lay-off will not help its chances against a side which will have continued play. Cessnock had to wait for about five weeks last season to play in the grand final and lost to Corrimal, 3-11.

Three Penalties

There were three penalty kicks in yesterday's match at Wallsend. Cessnock had the first and missed a fine chance to gain an important early lead, when C. Almond, usually a most reliable "spot" kicker, weakly put the ball outside the post. Early in the second half he sent a shot from the penalty spot at the other end like a bullet into the net.

After Almond missed with his first penalty kick Cessnock played poor Soccer, while Corrimal's play so improved that it was running Cessnock into the ground at the end.

Within a minute of Cessnock's penalty miss Corrimal received a similar award and E. Drain made no error. The success encouraged Corrimal and although Cessnock had most of the play in that half Corrimal wore down its attack so much that in the second half the Cessnock forwards, usually a constantly challenging unit, became ragged.

J. Drinkwater had two players constantly shadowing him, but was always dangerous.

Although Corrimal played the more attractive Soccer, it was not the better team in the first half, at the end of which it led 2-0. In that session, Cessnock forced 19 goal-kicks and conceded only two. But Cessnock missed its chances, mainly because a fast moving Corrimal defence did not allow it to settle down and also because Corrimal refused to play Cessnock's game of keeping the ball in the air.

Corrimal kept the ball on the ground, saw to it that Drinkwater was not allowed room to move and allowed Cessnock to do all the running.

Wrong Tactics

In the second half, when Cessnock began to falter, Corrimal struck heavily. Its forwards raced through and around the Cessnock defence, of which J. Pettigrew was an uneasy member, and scored two fine goals.

Lennard missed with a "sitter

With half-time near, P. Peters made a lone effort which drew J. Nelson from goal and Peters put the ball past him to give Corrimal a 2-nil lead at half-time.

In the second half a Corrimal defender put the ball into his own net, but the referee, K. Urwin, who handled a difficult match well, had already signalled a penalty kick. Almond made no error and Cessnock was back in the game—but not for long.

Corrimal increased its pace and Cessnock wilted although it still made some efforts in which Drinkwater and Heaney were near to scoring. But Corrimal was relentless and T. Willoughby, with a good right-foot shot from the left wing, and then W. Kear, with a terrific drive, scored goals. Soon after Drain hit the bar with the defence well beaten. Corrimal may have been unfortunate not to have added two more goals to the four it had already scored.

2 Goals Lost

In the Sydney game yesterday Canterbury-Marrickville players and officials claimed that two goals which the team scored against Wallsend but which were disallowed for offside play should have been allowed.

On both occasions a linesman, Mr. N. MacHugh, ruled the forward who scored the goal offside.

Canterbury-Marrickville had its chance after these rebuffs to win. W. Westwater had an open goal with Wallsend's goalkeeper, W. Endicott, out of position, late in the second half but missed. Endicott was bombarded towards the end of the game and conceded four corners in as many minutes.

R. Neal scored for Canterbury-Marrickville and R. Frame kicked a penalty for Wallsend.

HEAT IS ON SOCCER

CORRIMAL GOALIE Jim Brown beats Wallsend forward John Morrow to the ball in this "duel in the sun" at Macarthur Park yesterday.

Wallsend Recovers

Solid play by Wallsend's wing halves and its inside forwards then brought Wallsend back into the game.

Firstly Frame scored when a sharp attack found a flaw in Corrimall's defence.

Wallsend's second goal by Bruce Morrow was a masterful effort. It revealed Morrow at his best.

By speed and determination, he took the ball down the left, then veered across and angled his final drive with dexterity.

The goal brought a mighty roar from the crowd of 5000, which paid £482 at the gates.

Five goals in the first half made this one of the best finals seen for years.

As anticipated, Corrimall placed a strong emphasis on defence to retain its narrow lead and there was no further score in the second half, despite the tactical moves of Wallsend to bring about goals.

Wallsend's Lapses

On three occasions, golden opportunities came to the feet of the Wallsend forwards but on each occasion they failed to convert.

For the winners, left half R. Young was outstanding and time and time again he relieved the pressure.

He received solid and effective support from the fullback pair Callen and Taylor, both of whom showed dour determination both in tackle and clearance.

At the end of the match, many expressed surprise at the exclusion of R. Young from the Olympic Squad.

Wallsend In Final With Corrimal

By "The Onlooker"

Wallsend's 5-1 win against Canterbury-Marrickville in their replayed State major premiership semi-final at Adamstown on Saturday qualifies it to meet Corrimal in the final—probably on a Sydney ground next week-end.

Wallsend proved itself the better of two good teams because its half-backs and inside forwards worked in unison and because the team in general had greater speed and was able to maintain Canterbury-Marrickville wilted under the constant pressure and fell below standard, particularly in the second half, in which Wallsend scored three times.

Some Northern enthusiasts, while agreeing that Wallsend's display was nearly faultless, are pessimistic about its chance of beating Corrimal because Corrimal trounced Cessnock in the other semi-final a week earlier, but Cessnock was well below its best in that game.

If Wallsend can set the pace, as it did against Canterbury-Marrickville, and if there is the same cooperation among its players it can win the final.

Its test hurdle will be Corrimal wing half-backs, R. Bignali and R. Young, who should not be allowed to dictate the run of play. If they can be subdued Corrimal will be no more than an ordinary side.

Cessnock has the right to challenge the winner of the final to a grand final. That match may be played on a Northern ground.

Halves Take Over

When Wallsend's half-backs—George Arthur, Jack O'Brien and Bobby Herd—took charge of the field play on Saturday and gained almost continual possession, Canterbury-Marrickville's chances faded. The three half-backs did not waste their passes, the result being that the Wallsend forwards were able to make raid after raid into Canterbury-Marrickville territory and to make full use of Bruce Morrow's pace.

Morrow did well at centre-forward. His combination with his brother, Johnny, was no small factor in the Sydney side's defeat. Their ball control and quick spurts of speed had the defence at sixes and sevens and allowed them to make the openings from which most of the goals were scored.

D. Endicott, in the Wallsend goal, made many fine saves and Arthur and Bill Neal defended dourly and gave the Canterbury-Marrickville inside forwards no quarter. Consequently the Sydney side's attack never settled down and seldom looked dangerous.

Good Cover Play

When it did seem as if the Canterbury-Marrickville forwards would break through, A. Steele, the right full-back, Herd and O'Brien and the two inside forwards, P. Turella and R. Frame, covered well. Frame and Turella covered a lot of ground in defence and did not lag in attack. Their thoughtful kicking so that the Morrow brothers could use their speed did much to help win the match.

W. Westwater was the only Canterbury-Marrickville player who could match any Wallsend man. He broke up many attacks and despite the weariness his labours caused he also made great efforts to get the forwards, K. Phillip and J. Moore, whom he fed, settled down. But they did not have the skill to capitalise the chances he made for them.

It was Westwater who made the opening for Phillip to score Canterbury-Marrickville's only goal, which came after Wallsend had rattled up five—but the goal was a gift.

With its big lead Wallsend slackened a little and Westwater, realising this launched another attack. Wallsend made no more errors.

Near Misses

Turella's snap shot in the fourth minute caught the Canterbury-Marrickville defence by surprise and missed by inches. Moore, at the other end, hit the cross-bar, but that was the closest Sydney side was to scoring till its goal near the end.

After 19 minutes Turella cut out two defenders, passed to Bruce Morrow who sent on to his brother, whose shot went into the net off the side of J. Comrie's leg. Soon after Johnny Morrow, veering towards the wing, pivoted and sent a long pass to Bruce Morrow, who moved around R. Parkinson and scored for Wallsend to lead 2-0 at half-time.

Canterbury-Marrickville's challenge immediately the second half began did not last long, all its efforts falling against the stubborn defence of Endicott, Neal, Steele and Arthur, who gave a good exhibition of "stepper" play.

When this opening burst died away Wallsend took charge. The Canterbury-Marrickville defence began to crack, and it was sadly out of position when Peel caught it on the wrong leg before sending a high pass to Frame, who outpaced Comrie and Farmer and then put the ball from one side of the goal to the other for Turella to head into the net.
